Safeguard Your Key Assets

It's crucial to keep your business's high-value assets—its data and intellectual property—fully protected. The compromise or loss of these assets can severely damage your brand and your ability to compete.

Enterprises need the right authentication service policies to keep their assets safe. User authentication strategies are a key part of an all-encompassing approach to protecting your data across all of your systems and platforms.

Whether threats are coming from within or outside the enterprise, strong user authentication measures are a critical piece in supporting an end-to-end data security strategy.

Breaches by the Numbers

- ▶ As much as 80% of a company's value can come from its intellectual property.
- ▶ Only 40% of data breaches originate from external sources.

Enhance Security With User Authentication

Prolifics can help your enterprise build a sound user authentication strategy, ensuring that the "right" people can access your assets for the right reasons, while the "wrong" people are kept out.

With our User Authentication Quick Start, our security experts help advise your business on how to move forward—from reviewing all the way through implementing user authentication strategies. We can help you plan and design an authentication model that features:

- ▶ Multi-factor authentication for enhanced security.
- ▶ Secure access to data, whether hosted on-premise, in the cloud, or by business partners.
- ▶ Streamlined and secured access for desktop, web, and mobile devices.
- ▶ Integrated security infrastructure that is built into all aspects of your environment to prevent weak links.
